John was born on June 9, 1791 and died on December 1, 1853. On March 3, 1816 he married Elizabeth Moore (1800-1878) daughter of Dr. David and Elizabeth Essex Moore of North River. John was a blacksmith by trade and resided with his family in a house of the property where the new Fire Hall is situated on Kent Street, Charlottetown. While the Robinsons lived there, Masonic meetings were held in one of the upstairs rooms, which was kept solely for that purpose. Later as their sons grew to manhood and expressed a desire to become farmers, John purchased McAusland or Peter's Island, later to become known as 'Robinson's Lisland,' situated north of Rustico. This little island was a gem, in that it boasted two miles of sand dunes for pasture land, a growth of soft and hard wood, cranberry bogs and two hundred acres suitable for farming. It also had a house and outbuildings. Here John settled his sons Peter Wendover and John William and it remained in the family until 1937, when it was sold to the Government for a National Park.

About 1848 John Robinson moved to Mount Pleasant, Lot 12 where he became involved in shipbuilding. While on a business trip to St. Pierre, a French possession south of Newfoundland, a disastrous fire broke out threatening total destruction. Mr. Robinson organized a fire brigade and after strenuous labour succeeded in bringing the fire under control. For this heroic deed the French government presented him with a medal inscribed thus: "A JOHN ROBINSON RECOMPENSE DE SON DEVOUEMENT LORS DU 11 OCTOBRE 1844 A ST PIERRE DE TERRE NEUVE". To John Robinson as a reward for his great and voluntary help on the occasion of the great fire at St. Pierre on 11 October 1844.:

John died at Mount Pleasant in Lot 12 of a hernia caused by a kick from a horse. He is buried in St. James Church Cemetery, Port Hill, Prince Edward Island.

Note: Died: In this city, on Friday, the 3rd inst. (3 March 1876) at the residence, of H. J Callbeck, Esq., relict of the late Thomas Robinson, Esq. of Brighton Lodge, in the 100th year of her age. Mrs. Robinson is a native of Elliot River on this Island. The funeral will leave her late residence Monday, the 6th, inst., friends and family are requested to attend (The Patriot, Saturday, March 1876) In our obituary column, today (?) will be found the notice of the death of Mrs. Robinson, who was, perhaps, the oldest inhabitant of the Colony. The old lady enjoyed good health almost up to the time of the death. Mr. Robert McConnell, Mrs. Robinson's father, came to this country from Wigton, Scotland, as early as the year 1772, and settled in Elliot or West River, where Mrs. Robinson was born. Her mother was the only daughter of General McDonald (Clanronald) who let his father's clan at Culloden in 1746, and afterward sealed his devotion to the House of Hanover, with his life at King's Bridge, North Carolina in February 1776. Two of his sons the year previous fell in the British service at the Battle of Bunker Hill, and another son received a wound that disabled him for life in the same conflict. Mrs. Robinson lived to see farms and wide clearings take the place of the wilderness, and the introduction of all modern improvements of the present age. Her long life came to a close on the morning of Friday the 3d, dying as she lived a humble follower of Christ.

John's mother (Susannah Phillips) had left William Devey around 1859 and entered into a relationship with James Cunningham. James and Susannah had 5 children with the eldest being Abraham born on 21st February 1860. John's birth record is elusive but the baptismal certificate attached to the 1868 Application for Admission to the Queen's Orphan School for his brother William and half brother Abraham gives us a date of birth for John of 6th September 1858. There are enough documents that support the family story that John's birth father was William Devey and that he took the name Cunningham as a child about the time Susannah commenced her relationship with James. The above mentioned application states that James and Susannah (aka Susan) never married. I have attached a source document to the record of John's brother [William Cunningham (LCJC-D99)] which consists of Digital Images (9 images) of file for the Application for Admission to Queen's Orphan School at New Town (a suburb of Hobart, Tasmania, Australia) for William Davey (age 11 - incorrectly stated in the file to be 10 1/2) and his brother Abraham Davey (aged 8). The file contains some very useful information about their parents and siblings, including for John. This includes:- (1) that the parents are stated by James Cunningham as being himself (which is not the case for William and John as their father was William Devey) and Susan Phillips (noted that her name was written as Davey which has then been crossed out), that James Cunningham arrived in the colony of Tasmania on the ship "Marion"; and that he was Free by Servitude on 13 March 1859 (meaning he was transported from Great Britain as a convict), (2) the boys names being shown as Davey by the Evandale (Tasmania, Australia) Police Officer who filled in the application dated 17 April 1868 whereas later in the file their surnames are listed as Cunningham and also the boys are recorded as stating to the Orphan School authorities that their surname is Davey and not Cunningham, (3) advice from the Evandale local officials that the parents were never married, that the boys were baptised into the name Cunningham and other information including (4) the reason for the application being that the parents stole a 5 pound note and were to be sentenced to 24 months (James Cunningham) and 12 months (Susan Phillips) hard labour and that the parents subsequently were freed after serving their sentences and well able to look after their children. There is also a certificate attached to the file from Robert Russell, Presbyterian Minister of Religion in Evandale dated 17 April 1868 stating he baptised 4 boys on 27 August 1866, the children of James Cunningham and Susan Cunningham whose maiden name was Phillips. The names (William, John, Abraham and Alexander) and birth dates of the boys are given. Point (1) above notes that the claim by James Cunningham that he is the father of William and John is incorrect. James lived with but never married William and John's mother Susan (aka Susannah) Phillips. Susan never married William Devey but she took his name whilst living with him and then later took the name of Cunningham when she went to live with James Cunningham around 1859 and with whom she had further children. To clarify, William and John's father was William Devey (name morphed to Davey) and the boys were only about 2 years and 1 year old when Susan presumably left William and went to live with James Cunningham whose name, like their mother (Susan), they subsequently took on. John married Harriet Boyd on 26th February 1878 in Lymington (near Evandale, Tasmania, Australia). There was an article in the local newspaper (North Eastern Advertiser) in 1938 on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary that has useful information about John and Harriets' lives including that which loosely fits the events of John's early years.*

25. FAMILY TREES

Each family tree shows the reported children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents of a family group. In order to reduce redundancy, any family group which is wholly included within another family tree may not be reported separately.

Above each of the great-grandparent boxes (top row), a continuation family tree reference number is shown if the great-grandparent is recorded as a child in the continuation tree. A continuation reference number is also shown to the left of a grandparent or parent box if that individual has siblings reported in the continuation tree; and beneath a child box (bottom row) if that individual has children reported in the continuation tree.

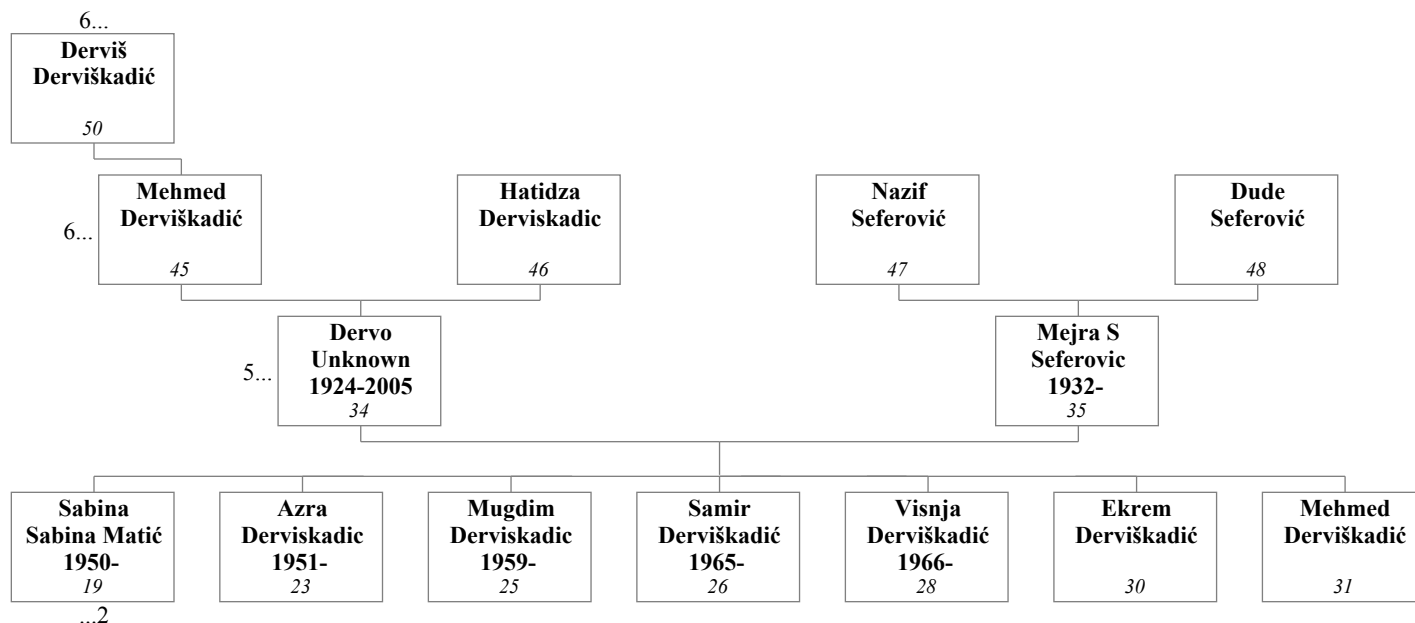

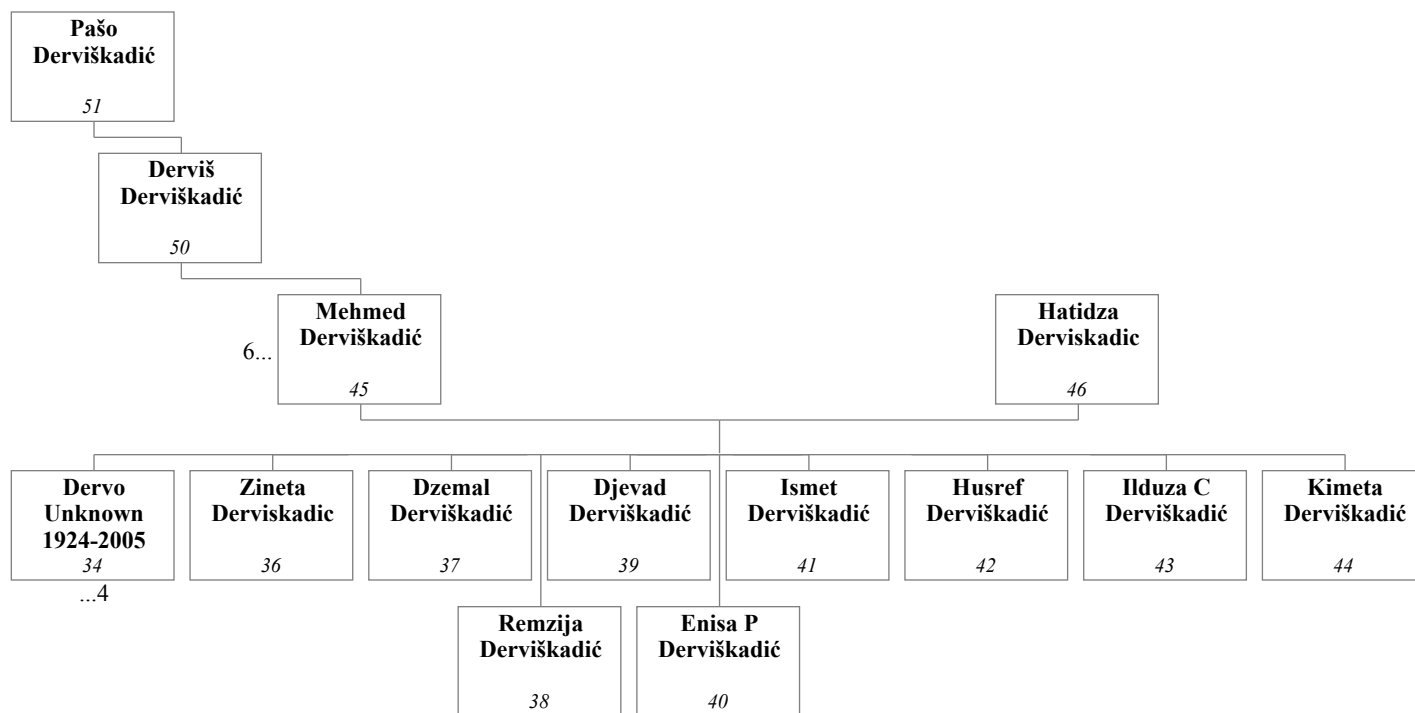

In cases of multiple marriages, a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown to the right of a parent box. This number references the previous and/or next tree in which that individual is shown with another partner.

In cases of adopted (or fostered) children, the parental connection is shown with a dashed line and a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown within the individual's box. This number references the tree in which that individual is shown with his or her natural parents.

27. SOURCES

1. "1851 England & Wales Census" in "MyHeritage"
What can you find in the census? Census returns can help you determine who your ancestors were, and can also tell you:- Where your ancestors were living- Who they were living with- What their occupations were- If they had any servants- Who their neighbours were- If they had any brothers and sisters- What their ages were at the time of the census- If they had any disabilities. As well as giving you the above information, the fact that census returns are taken every ten years also allows you to track the movements of your ancestors through time as they perhaps move house, get married, have children or even change occupations. The fields which have been transcribed for the census are:- First name- Middle name- Last name- Sex- Birth place- Age- Place of residence- County- Relationship to head of household. Why this collection is so valuable: Census records are valuable since they can tell you where a person lived at a certain place and time. Censuses were conducted by the federal government and will offer a variety of information, depending on year. Census records can answer questions like where your ancestors were living at the time the census was taken, who they were living with, what their occupations were, who their neighbors were, if they had any brothers and sisters, what their ages were at the time of the census and if they had any disabilities. Searching the census: The golden rule of family history is to check the original historical record, or 'primary source', wherever possible. We have provided clear images of the original census enumeration books for you to view once you've found the right family in the indexes. When using census returns you should first search the transcriptions to help locate your ancestor in the census, and then view the original images to validate your findings. It will also help you see the household in the context of surrounding households. This is particularly important as transcribing an entire census is a huge and difficult task, and whilst we have used the expertise of our transcribers and the experience of key representatives from the genealogy community to help us translate the records, it is inevitable that there will be some errors. Next steps: With the information you gain from these census records, you will have the information you need to search for vital records in the locality where you found your ancestor. Also, the fact that census returns are taken every ten years also allows you to track the movements of our ancestors through time as they perhaps move house, get married, have children or even change occupations.

5. "Australia, Business Register" in "MyHeritage"
The Australian Business Number (ABN) is a unique 11-digit identifier used to identify and track businesses operating in Australia. It was introduced by the Australian government in 2000 as a means of simplifying business registration and reducing the regulatory burden on businesses. Any business that is operating in Australia or that has Australian customers is required to have an ABN. The ABN is used for a range of purposes, including taxation, invoicing, and government registration. It is also used by other businesses and organizations when dealing with the business, such as when providing goods and services or entering into contracts. 6. "Australia, Victoria Death Index, 1836-1985" in "MyHeritage"
The bulk of the records begin in 1853 — the year civil registration began in Victoria. Information provided in this index can be used to purchase a copy of the full death record; uncertified copies (downloadable images) can be purchased and downloaded from the Births Deaths Marriages Victoria website. Obtaining a copy of a full death record is important because it will likely list additional information about the deceased and his or her death.

53. "U.S. Social Security Applications and Claims, 1936-2007" in "MyHeritage"
Starting in 1936 the Social Security Administration started to maintain records of each individual who applied for a Social Security Number. The earliest form of these records were known as the "Master Files of the Social Security (SSN) Holders and SSN Applications". This was more commonly known simply as the "Enumeration System". In the 1970s legacy records from this system were migrated and new records were maintained electronically in the Numerical Identification System (NUMIDENT). This collection contains records of individuals with a verified death between 1936 and 2007 or who would have been over 110 years old by December 31, 2007. There are three types of entries in NUMIDENT: applications (SS-5), claims, and death entries. The records of applications and claims are presented here in this collection. The death entries are available on MyHeritage as the U.S. Social Security Death Index (SSDI). The application (SS-5) records contain information extracted from the SS-5 form "Application for a Social Security Card" or "Application for Social Security Account Number." Information in the NUMIDENT application entries include applicant's full name, father's name, mother's maiden name, sex, race/ethnic description, place of birth, and other information about the application and subsequent changes to the applicant's record - such as name changes especially common (and even required) when women marry. For about 43 percent of social security numbers, there are multiple application records. The application records preserved by the Social Security Administration do not include records of all social security applications between 1936 and 2007. Information of applications prior to 1973 may be incomplete. There may not be a record for an individual in both the application records and the death entries and there are nearly 6 million social security numbers in the application records that do not appear in the death entries. And conversely, there are records in the death entries that have no corresponding extant record in the application entries. The claim records include information on the type of claim, the claimant's full name, date of birth, gender, and for about half of the claim records the US state or country of birth. For a small number of social security numbers there are multiple claim records. Records in this collection may have place names that were abbreviated or personal names that were truncated in the data supplied by the Social Security Administration. MyHeritage has corrected and expanded many of these when possible but other values remain abbreviated or truncated.

54. "U.S. Social Security Death Index (SSDI)" in "MyHeritage"
Begun in 1935 by the Social Security Act signed into law by FDR, more than thirty million Americans were registered for the economic security sanctions by 1937. From 1937 to 1940, payments were made in one-lump sums amounts with the first amount being seventeen cents. Following amendments in 1939, the payments turned into monthly benefits and increased. Following further amendments in 1950, cost-of-living increases were awarded to those who were receiving benefits. From 1950 to the present, benefits have increased yearly in response to inflation concerning the costs of living.
